ISBN-13: 9789751412898
$ 39.50

In 1988, Turkish Airlines (THY) was a loss-making state-run company with 27 airplanes of six different types. It flew to 57 points in Turkey and nearby countries. It had an unenviable image, such that irate passengers had nicknamed it (T)hey (H)ate (Y)ou Airlines. Today its 103-strong fleet flies to 138 points in a network stretching from Tokyo to Chicago. Its image has soared. Its growth rate is at least twice the European average. Although still state-controlled, it is consistently profitable.

The Guide to Turkish Wines / Seyla Ergenekon
Istanbul: Emir Ofset, 2008
144p,; 20cm
ISBN-13: 9789759675929
$ 35.00

ID: 107673

The Guide to Turkish Wines is an expert-led tour of Turkey's exciting contemporary wine scene and the first book on the subject to be written in English.

Seyla Ergenekon presents a brief history of the heritage and culture of wine in her native country, describes the little-known indigenous Turkish grape varieties, and introduces Turkey's wine producers providing portraits of all the major wine makers as well as the growing number of boutique wineries.

Complete with astute recommendations for every producer, The Guide to Turkish Wines is a great handbook for anyone heading to Turkey, or for wine lovers already in the country who are eager to expand their horizons.

The circumstances which led to the turbulent events of 1963 remain one of the most obscure aspects of modern Cypriot history. This book aims to fill the gap.

Based largely on new material from British and American archives, it records events as they unfolded during the years 1963 – 1964, and seeks to interpret the political behaviour of the Greek and Turkish Cypriot leaderships both locally and within the wider international context.

It also tries to give substantiated answers on the causes and consequences of this 'first partition' of the island only three years after the declaration of Cypriot independence.

A two-year stint as a Peace Corps volunteer in a remote western Anatolian village during the early 1960s changed the course of Health W. Lowry's life in a way he could never have imagined. Lowry's touching vignettes, reflecting both the high and low points of his time there, are by turn humorous and tragic and reflect his affection for the villagers who embraced him as one of their own. Tales of friendship, hospitality and humanity are juxtaposed against the harsh dramas and social mores of a traditional agrarian society of that period.

Kitab -1 Cihannuma: 360 Yillik Bir Oyku = The Book of Cihannuma: A 360 Year Old Story / Katip Celebi

Istanbul: Boyut Publishing Group, 2008

ISBN-13: 9789752305632

Bilingual English & Turkish Language

Book in Slipcase

$ 400.00

When approached chronologically, Kitab Cihannuma reveals a variety of originalities. Firstly, the maps, even those added by Ibrahim Muteferrika are not authentic. In fact there are copies by Ibrahim Muteferrika that differ from each other. There are copies written by Katib Celebi and those printed by Ibrahim Muteferrika, again with dissimilarity in their number of maps. Katib Celebi added a new commentary while rewriting the book in 1654. 78 years later, Ibrahim Muteferrika added new character to the book with his own interpretation. In all literary searches for Cihannuma, reference is made to Ibrahim Muteferrika's printed copy. Thus, 276 later we have prepared a new book of Cihannuma with a new interpretation. We might have assumed Muteferrika's role, perhaps a little... The book you are holding is not an extra copy, it accommodates every page, however in reduced size. It is also not an exact copy in terms of modern Turkish. It is a new Cihannuma that tries, with the help of our modern day knowledge, to shed light on the authentic information it contains. The renowned and celebrated Cihannuma belongs to Muteferrika; the one created in the newest forms and applications of technology in printing is BOYUT's CIHANNUMA... The Directorate of Istanbul Archaeological Museums was appointed to lead the archaeological excavations at Uskudar, Sirkeci, Sultanahmet and Yenikapi station construction of Marmaray and Metro Projects, among the most important transportation projects of Turkey. Our largest area of excavation is at Yenikapi on the Marmara coast, the area known as Langa, which housed the harbour of Byzantine Istanbul. Excavations at Theodosian Harbour brought to light, to date, a total of 31 shipwrecks of various sizes and types.

ISBN-13: 9789963942619 (HB)
$ 80.00

An exciting journey through the colourful history of the Mediterranean island of Cyprus, one of the oldest civilisation of the world.

Beautiful illustrations fire the imagination with scenes from daily life, including typical objects from each period. Look out for the figurine hidden on almost every page down through the ages.

As a leading producer of copper in antiquity, Cyprus fell prey to the big regional powers of the day. Egyptians, Persians, Phoenicians, Romans, Byzantines, Crusaders, Franks, Venetians, Ottomans and the British, all at one time or other ruled the island and left their mark.

From the hut dwellers of Chirokitia, to ancient Greek city-kingdoms, sunken trading ships, exquisite Roman mosaics, royal weddings and brutal wars, the events that shaped the island are vividly brought to life.
