Splendour of Khmer Iconography: Ancient Cambodian Art of the 5th to the 13th Centuries in Major World Museums and Private Collections / Aziz Bassoul
Beirut, Lebanon: Cedar of Lebanon Editions, 2018
360p.
9789953045689
$ 225.00 / HB
2050gm.

Over the last 15 years, Mr Bassoul's concentration has been on Khmer iconography and he has come to the conclusion that the Khmer sculptures presented to the public by the major world museums, despite their significant interest, were not enough to cover the much wider spectrum of Khmer iconography. In order to reach that goal, one has to resort to the Khmer sculptures in the hands of private collectors. From there, the idea was born to publish a book on the subject of Khmer iconography that would present some of the most relevant sculptures with the major world museums and complement that presentation with as many relevant examples in the hands of private collectors. Splendour of Khmer Iconography presents 57 museum sculptures and 102 sculptures in private collections with dates between the 5th and the 13th centuries.

This flagship publication is the result of a regional two-year research project entitled: “Enhancing Research and Dialogue on Contract Farming in the Mekong-Lancang Countries”. It represents a close collaboration between CDRI and project partners - the China Agricultural University (CAU), Kasetsart University (Thailand), and the Institute of Policy and Strategy for Agriculture and Rural Development (IPSARD) (Vietnam). The project explored and documented best practices in contract farming, successes, failure factors and lessons learned from each country, as well as providing policy recommendations for consideration by the relevant national governments. Selected crops included rice, pepper, cashew nut and fruit. Contract farming has presented many benefits to farmers, agriculture cooperatives and companies. It has enhanced access to markets, stable set-prices, better inputs such as quality seeds and access to credit.

“Cambodia is a beguiling place. Its web has snared Wayne McCallum into its heart, enveloping him in its charm and culture ... a homage to the peculiarities of this exotic land.” —Tim Page, writer, photographer

“This is a treasure of a book. Wayne McCallum’s Mekong Solitaire is a potpourri of memoir, travelogue and photos of his years in the Mekong. Above all, it’s a tender homage to a river, a way of life and the natural world that is under constant threat.” — Minh Bui Jones, Editor, Mekong Review
