THIS BOOKLET OPENS UP NEW PERSPECTIVES SOME QUITE BOLD-ON OUR EXISTING UNDERSTANDING OF THE ECONOMIC AND MONETARY HISTORY OF CAMBODIA. IT DEFINES THE CONDITIONS AND THE CHARACTERISTICS OF THE RECENT DISCOVERIES MADE AT ANGKOR BOREI. IT ALSO DELIVERS THE FIRST SERIES OF EXCITING INTERPRETATIONS AND HYPOTHESES ON PRE-ANGKORIAN (AND AS THE CASE MAY BE, ANGKORIAN) ECONOMIC AND MONETARY PRACTICES, AS WELL AS ON THE USES AND THE EVOLUTION OF ROYAL POWER DURING AN ERA THAT, LACKING EXTENSIVE INFORMATION, HAS BEEN LEFT IN THE SHADOWS OF FUNAN AND ESPECIALLY ANGKOR.

I will leave it to the specialists who have studied and who continue to study these discoveries to illuminate their full meaning and draw conclusions. It is nevertheless clear that the impressive collection of currencies uncovered at Angkor Borei, in varied and original forms, obliges us to rethink the functioning of monetary systems prevalent during this period in the Khmer territories, as well as the degree of monetary and market integration of this part of Southeast Asia.

It is for me a great satisfaction to write the preface to "The Hoards of Angkor Borei." by the National Bank of Cambodia, whose tireless (and growing) engagement is crucial to the discovery and understanding of the role of money. – CHEA CHANTO Governor of the National Bank of Cambodia

Dignity / Mona Simon
The Dignity Project – Surviving Domestic Violence
Cambodia: Ngo-Cedaw
32p.
$ 30.00 / PB
74gm.

The Dignity Project.
NGO-CEDAW and artist Mona Simon created this project to portray the strength and dignity of survivors of domestic violence. This positive perspective contrasts with the normal community attitude of blaming women for the violence which they experience. The Project includes artistic portraits of survivors of violence accompanied by stories of their experiences and an explanation of the gaps in the existing Law on the Prevention of Domestic Violence and Protection of Victims. Please share your thoughts, opinions or experiences on domestic violence by e-mailing NGO-CEDAW at ngocedaw.pnh@gmail.com or by posting to our Facebook page: Dignity Project-Surviving Domestic Violence.

History

Broken Little Flowers of Cambodia: The Fight Against Sexual Exploitation of Children / Christian Guth (Ed & Translator) Teia Laudouar
Tampere, Finland: Atramenta, 2023
198p.
9789523903654
$ 50.00 / PB
308gm.

In the 1990s, Cambodia was a favorite hunting ground for international pedophiles. There was no shortage of impoverished children, and thanks to police and judiciary corruption, sexual predators operated with impunity, and human traffickers scoured the destitute villages to supply "fresh meat" to brothels and to neighboring countries. But in 2000, under the auspices of UNICEF and other international organizations, and the top hierarchies of Cambodian government, police commander Christian Guth became the architect and advisor of a special police unit to fight against pedophilia, sex crimes and child trafficking. In this book, Guth recounts the ten years he devoted to putting sex criminals and traffickers behind bars. Choosing the cases that most affected him personally and professionally, he humanizes the child victims – the broken "Little Flowers" – by sharing their stories with you. And by skillfully weaving in his impressions of Cambodian life and customs, its traumatic history and sociocultural norms, and myriad intriguing details of pursuing and prosecuting pseudocriminal, readers come away with a better understanding of sexual exploitation of all kinds, everywhere.

For these crimes are not limited to Cambodia, especially with modern technology and globalization easing the path for predators. This book therefore serves as a rich documentary resource for law enforcement and human services professionals, for academics, concerned parents and citizens on how to fight, anywhere, one of the most despicable forms of criminality that exists.
