This is the third monograph published by Architects 49 and 49Group. Some of the outcomes are represented here in this publication in four parts: Sense: reflecting how one can experience the different senses in architecture. This is to convey how people's perception towards a particular piece of architecture can be influenced by its context, culture, environment or even time. Project: the many different design approaches reflect the particular set of criteria and opportunities in each project. Design Competition: a selection of design competition projects, both first prize winners that are being built as well as unbuilt ones that otherwise may not be presented anywhere. Professional: the most important asset of any architectural practice, its staff, who all work together to deliver our high-quality professional projects.

Prisoner of Conscience : My Steps through Insein / Ma Thida (Foreword) U Win Tin
Chiang Mai: Silkworm Books, 2016

viii, 248p.

9786162151231

$ 30.00 / PB

304gm.

This is the stirring prison memoir of Ma Thida—surgeon, activist, writer, and recipient of several international human rights awards. From childhood, Ma Thida dreamed of helping others—caring for the sick, not bowing to the threat of censorship, and standing up for people’s rights. She became an indomitable supporter of efforts to stand against the political oppression that had been stifling the country’s progress for decades.

She joined Aung San Suu Kyi and the many other activists in the National League for Democracy, campaigning for the cause of freedom despite intimidation, harassment, and worse. Because of her efforts, the regime sent her to Insein Prison, where she faced serious illness and bleak conditions. However, it was in fighting the obstacles of her imprisonment and following the Buddha’s teachings that Ma Thida found what it means to be truly free. In this memoir, readers join Ma Thida on her path through captivity and witness one remarkable woman’s courageous quest for truth and dignity.

Religion - Buddhism

Buddhist Cosmology : The Study of a Burmese Manuscript / James Emanuel Bogle
Chiang Mai: Silkworm Books, 2016

160p. ; 31cm.

9786162151224

$ 80.00 / HB

1140gm.

Asian religious manuscripts have long been venerated as objects of worship and valued as teaching tools for the transmission of Buddhist teachings, philosophy and practice. Here, a Burmese Buddhist manuscript from the mid-nineteenth century is the catalyst for a study of the multifaceted Buddhist cosmos. The manuscript, which has several rare and remarkable features, not only lays out the complex array of realms in the Buddhist universe but also ventures into a number of esoteric and little-understood aspects of the Theravāda cosmological system and its inhabitants. By presenting translations and narration of much of the manuscript's text and sharing his careful analysis of its vivid illustrations, the author uncovers fascinating details of the Theravāda Buddhist cosmos.

Enlivening this investigation are detailed color and black-and-white illustrations, including a complete reduced-scale reproduction of the manuscript, newly conceived didactic diagrams, and examples from other sources that help clarify and explain the complex and segmented Buddhist cosmology.
