Cham Sculpture and Indian Mythology / Huynh Thi Duoc
Danang : Danang Publishing House, 2006
76 p. : ill. ; 24 cm.
$ 6.00

[Indian mythology had a strong influence on Cham sculpture and many Indian deities are represented in statues, busts or reliefs. The most popular are the images of Brahma, Shiva and Vishnu. But many other Indian deities, including Buddhas and various forms of Bodhisattvas, can also be seen in Cham works, such as Avalokiteshvara, Krishna, Indra, Laksmi, Ganesa, Nandin, Garuda, Shesha and Naga. We can recognize the deities by the characteristics attributed to them in Indian myths.]

Cong Kim Hoa : Lacquer Paintings / Shireen Naziree
 Bangkok : Thavibu Gallery Co. Ltd., c2006
 83 p. : ill. ; 26 cm.
 974-94683-7-6
 $ 36.75

[Cong Kim Hoa is one of the leading lacquer painters in Vietnam. The Sensitivity that flows through her paintings is filled with depth and detail; it is full of feeling and abundant with life. The abundance that fills Cong Kim Hoa's paintings is not merely a representation of physical forms but rather an expression of her emotional knowledge and personal history.

Modern lacquer paintings are unique to Vietnam. Other countries produce lacquer ware, but only in Vietnam has the synthesis of traditional lacquer techniques and modern painting been successful. The art of lacquer painting is an important Vietnamese contribution to the global contemporary art scene.]

Edible wild plants of Vietnam : The Bountiful Garden / Yoshitaka Tanaka, Nguyen Van Ke
 Bangkok : Orchid Press, c2007
 175 p. : ill. ; 23 cm.
 Includes Bibliography.
 974-524-089-3
 $ 26.00

[In Edible wild plants of Vietnam – The Bountiful Garden, a total of 130 species of wild plants, their characteristics, distribution, use and efficacy are described, accompanied by illustrations of each plant. The present study thus carefully records the knowledge of wild plants by the indigenous peoples of Vietnam, and is a step toward our preservation of this important data for posterity. As many neighbouring countries share similar flora, it is also hoped that this study will benefit not only Vietnamese, but also those in other Asian countries. This volume will be of interest to botanists, nutritionists and naturopathic healers as well as to the general reader.]
