Hooked on Thailand / Peter Jaggs
Bangkok: Heaven Lake Press, 2009
181p,; 20cm
ISBN-13: 9786169039327
$ 24.75

<http://www.marymartin.com/web/product?pid=115096>

Peter Jaggs's fifth book provides a fascinating glimpse into the bird and animal life of Thailand, as well as giving the reader many insights into some of the more bizarre folklores tales and extraordinary characters any visiting fisherman will come across during his time in the country. A guaranteed laugh a chapter, together with a philosophical look at the relationship between a visiting angler and a Pattaya bargirl makes Hooked on Thailand very much more than just a book about fishing.

Arrival of Dawn / Pensri Kiengsiri
Bangkok: Praphansarn Publishing Co., Ltd., 2009
214p,; 20cm
ISBN-13: 9789743196737
$ 19.50

<http://www.marymartin.com/web/product?pid=115097>

"Arrival of Dawn" vividly describes three generations in a Thai-Chinese family living in Bangkok as they interact with each other over the course of twenty years. Pressured by her mother, the narrator takes on the role of family caretaker, and later in life realizes that her sacrifices, instead of helping, have often brought harm to herself and others. In a distinctly Buddhist way, she gradually reaches serenity and understanding.

The Call of the Midnight / Sabai Huang

<http://www.marymartin.com/web/product?pid=115098>

Farang: the Sequel / Dr Iain Corness
Bangkok, Ireland: Maverick House Publishers, 2009
255p,; 20cm
ISBN-13: 9781905379637
$ 19.95

<http://www.marymartin.com/web/product?pid=115099>

Farang: the Sequel is the follow-up to the wildly successful first Farang written by ex-pat Dr. Ian Corness. In this further light-hearted look at life in Thailand, the good doctor explores such varied aspects as releasing fish to live longer, circumnavigating Thai toilets, the real cost of living for an ex-pat and the vagaries of driving on Thai roads. But it doesn't end there, as he dissects the strange relationships in Thai families, drops into a karaoke bar one night and laments those who go base jumping without a parachute.

“Planter Upriver” has sixty short stories set in Perak, Johor and Sabah in Malaysia, as well as Solomon Islands, Ghana, Nigeria, Cameroon and Zaire (now Democratic Republic of Congo).

The stories span the early 1960s to mid-1980s when the writer was working mainly in Unilever plantations, which had rubber, oil palm and cocoa and coconut, and also ran cattle in the islands in the South Pacific.

There were colourful characters even in the most remote places. The writer has also seen the lighter side of their work as shown in some of these stories.

"Planter Upriver" follows the writer's first book "Planter's Tales."

"Planter's Tales" also has sixty anecdotes of people many of whom were larger than life and who figured in the progress of the plantation industry in the tropics.
