Management Corporations in Malaysia / Michael J Willis

Sweet & Maxwell Asia, Malaysia 2013

226p.

9789670498492

$ 40.00 / PB

Buying into a strata development can hold a certain attraction for many property owners. Many strata property owners are attracted to the community-style living, cost sharing of facilities, the prospect of a pleasant lifestyle with shared recreational and community facilities and the likelihood of increased security.

Strata property ownership and living however bring the responsibilities of self-management and shared decision-making through the management corporation which every strata property owner is a member of. The management corporation in turn holds funds on trust and administers significant financial assets on behalf of property owners. All management corporations have statutory duties and powers under Malaysia's strata laws. These include legal responsibilities for matters such as financial management, management of common property, record keeping and meeting practice and procedures. Thus, some knowledge by owners and relevant others of the laws, rules/regulations and by-laws which affect the management of a strata property is not only essential but financially prudent. The only way to ensure that a management corporation delivers no surprises is for owners to be at least aware of their obligations and entitlements.

Owners must be engaged to ensure that their investment, lifestyle and financial well-being are protected and enhanced when living in this form of housing. This book gives owners the tools to do that. It expresses in as plain a language as possible the meaning of the key provisions of the new Strata Management Act 2013.

Drawing on his experience as an owner-occupier of a condominium apartment in Kuala Lumpur and his first-hand knowledge of strata living in Malaysia, the author has prepared a thoroughly readable text on the legal provisions which impact on management corporations

This book will greatly benefit strata property owners as well as professional, industry and consumer associations, the broader real estate industry including valuers, building surveyors and developers, and state and federal land office/department officials.

The Law Reform (Marriage and Divorce) Act 1976 /

Sweet & Maxwell Asia, Malaysia 2013

9789670498508

$ 53.00 / HB

The Law Reform (Marriage and Divorce) Act 1976 is often considered to be the backbone of family law for non-Muslims in Malaysia. It was enacted to bring about a uniform law applicable to non-Muslim marriages. In the face of the customs of the different races living in Malaysia, the drafting and the implementation of the new legal regime have not been straightforward. Nevertheless a good appreciation of the Act is essential for a proper knowledge of non-Muslim family law in Malaysia.

This book makes available cases and materials on the Act to assist in its study and application. It provides insightful commentary on the provisions of the Act. Reference is made to related legislation which impact on the functioning of family law. The vast body of case law both local and foreign, principally from England and Singapore, has been surveyed to prepare helpful summaries of the cases which shed light on the application of the statutory provisions. The commentary also considers and provides views on issues and difficulties which have arisen in the application of the Act.

Written by an experienced teacher of family law, this book certainly contains a valuable source of materials in one compact volume for all those who have interest in non-Muslim family law in Malaysia.

Constitutional Law and Human Rights in Malaysia / Khairil Azmin Mokhtan

Sweet & Maxwell Asia, Malaysia 2013

597p.

9789670498133

$ 87.00 / HB

The constitution of a country is the embodiment of the nation's philosophy and history, amalgamating the agreed basic principles governing relationships between individuals, the society and the government. Since independence, the Federal Constitution of Malaysia has catered to the needs of the diverse Malaysian population. Over the course of time and with the rapid changes that have taken place in the various spheres of life, several issues have arisen the resolution of which requires the constitutional law of the country to grow and develop in tandem.

This book addresses a wide range of topical and important issues which concern the Malaysian public today. Through 28 chapters arranged in three parts, this book covers topics pertaining to the principal organs of government, the basic concepts and features of the Constitution, and human rights. It contains an interesting compilation of materials authored by a panel of contributors with wide and varied experience of constitutional law, comprising senior and young scholars from various tertiary institutions within the country as well as a few scholars from other jurisdictions.

The discussion contained in the book is enlightening, analytical as well as thought-provoking. Besides stating the applicable principles of constitutional law clearly, the book addresses challenging issues faced by the Malaysian society and provides legal solutions as well as suggestions for the future development of constitutional law in Malaysia.

Covering issues such as freedom of speech and expression, the accountability and integrity of the judiciary, the price of access to justice, the electoral process, elected members and the right to change party, the rights of the orang asli, freedom of communication and the Internet, the legal protection of the right to privacy as well as the rights of women in Malaysia, this book presents constitutional in Malaysia from a different and fresh perspective.

Borneo Law Reports - Full Sets Volumes 1 - 7 / TAN Kee Heng(ed)

Sweet & Maxwell Asia, Malaysia 2013

7 Vol.

9789675040740 (Set)

$ 721.00 / HB

The Borneo Law Reports covers all major areas of law with reference to the most recent developments in each of the areas reported. This work contains more than 500 full judgments (divided into seven volumes based on subject matter headings) decided by the High Court, Court of Appeal and the Federal Court that represent all the important cases originating from the High Court in Sabah and Sarawak from 1993 to 2013, many of which are hitherto unreported in any of the law reports in Malaysia.

While the Borneo Law Reports contains cases from several areas of law that are peculiar to Sabah and Sarawak, and provides a very valuable collection of such cases for future reference, the publication also contains much case law on subjects that are applicable throughout Malaysia, including administrative law, banking law, bankruptcy, civil procedure, company law, constitutional law, contract, criminal law, criminal procedure, evidence, family law, revenue law and tort.

The Borneo Law Reports comes in handsome bound volumes with cases organised according to subject matter headings arranged alphabetically. Each case is supported by concise and well-structured catchwords as well as a succinct headnote with holdings referenced to the relevant parts of the case.

Personal Injury: Quantum, Cases and Materials Volume 3 (Supplement) /

Lexis Nexis, Malaysia 2013

9789674001926

$ 100.00 / HB

The assessment of damages is a crucial and complicated process in personal injury litigation. The 2-volume Personal Injury - Quantum, Cases and Materials, first published in 2008 simplified the process by compiling relevant data drawn from case law and provides pertinent information in easy-to-follow table formats.

This Volume 3 follows on to update the law as of the publication of the original 2-volume title to June 2013. This Volume contains references both reported and unreported cases on personal injury; and makes references to guidelines stipulated in the Compendium of Personal Injury Awards issued by the Bar Council (2010). The cases are obtained from MLJ Law Reports and MLJ unreported.

Personal Injury: Quantum, Cases and Materials (Vol 1 to 3) is an essential reference and guide for judges, lawyers, academicians, insurance companies, medical institutions, students and the public at large who are interested in the assessment of damages for personal injuries. This meticulously compiled book is designed for early settlement of claims or assessment of damages during trial.

LexisNexis Annotated Statute Series: Bankruptcy /

Lexis Nexis, Malaysia 2013

978967400159

$ 40.00 / PB

Currently, the main Act governing bankruptcies is the Bankruptcy Act 1967. From the date the Bankruptcy Act came into force on 30 September 1967, there have been many changes to its provisions. The LexisNexis Annotated Statute Series: Bankruptcy eases the identification of these changes.

Each section of the Act is followed by extensive and helpful annotations. The annotations explain the provision and make references to relevant case law and foreign legislation. Supporting the Act and presented in full are three relevant subsidiary legislation:

- Bankruptcy Rules 1979
- Bankruptcy (Cost) Rules 1969
- Bankruptcy (Fees) Rules 1969

Legal practitioners, corporate counsels, business professionals and students will find this book indispensable.
